Applicant's primary argument is that Gupta would not be considered as analogous art by one of the ordinary skill in the art such that Gupta is directed to managing advertising on the Internet, not to managing history logs or other aspects of a browser. The examiner does not agree for the following reasons:

In response to applicant's argument that Gupta would not be considered as analogous art by one of the ordinary skill in the art such that Gupta is directed to managing advertising on the Internet, not to managing history logs or other aspects of a browser. It has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992).

In this case, the examiner acknowledges that Gupta is directed to managing advertising on the Internet. However, in managing advertising on the Internet, Gupta keeps track of user- browsing activities such as all URL requests, text, and other information, and transmits the user browsing activities to a server (see col. 9, lines 38-41). The part of the Gupta's reference that the examiner relies on is keeping track of the URL visited by the user and transmitting the information for use by other system. In addition, Maddalozzo is directed to managing history logs of a browser by keeping track of URL visited by the user during a browsing session (col. 4, lines 6-9). Both references are dealing with maintaining user activities during a browsing session. Accordingly, Gupta's reference is relevant and analogous to the applicant's claimed language.
